Art Unit: 1732

1. Applicant's election with traverse of Group I, claims 1-10 in the reply filed on September 28, 2005 is acknowledged. The traversal is on the ground(s) that "no additional work is imposed upon the U. S. Patent and Trademark office and these claims should be search together". This is not found persuasive because there is a clear classification distinction between Class 264 and Class 241. Class 264 is a molding class, whereas class 241 is a comminuting class, a search in one class does not necessarily require search in the other class. Furthermore, these classes are examined in different Technology Centers.

The requirement is still deemed proper and is therefore made FINAL.

2. Action on the merits of claims 1-10 follows. Claims 11-20 have been withdrawn from further consideration.

3. The nonstatutory double patenting rejection is based on a judicially created doctrine grounded in public policy (a policy reflected in the statute) so as to prevent the unjustified or improper timewise extension of the "right to exclude" granted by a patent and to prevent possible harassment by multiple assignees. A nonstatutory obviousness-type double patenting rejection is appropriate where the conflicting claims are not identical, but at least one examined application claim is not patentably distinct from the reference claim(s) because the examined application claim is either anticipated by, or would have been obvious over, the reference claim(s). See, e.g., In re Berg, 140 F.3d 1428, 46 USPQ2d 1226 (Fed. Cir. 1998); In re Goodman, 11 F.3d 1046, 29 USPQ2d 2010 (Fed. Cir. 1993); In re Longi, 759 F.2d 887, 225 USPQ 645 (Fed. Cir. 1985); In re Van Ornum, 686 F.2d 937, 214 USPQ 761 (CCPA 1982); In re Vogel, 422 F.2d 438, 164 USPQ 619 (CCPA 1970); and In re Thorington, 418 F.2d 528, 163 USPQ 644 (CCPA 1969).

A timely filed terminal disclaimer in compliance with 37 CFR 1.321(c) or 1.321(d) may be used to overcome an actual or provisional rejection based on a nonstatutory double patenting ground provided the conflicting application or patent either is shown to be commonly owned with this application, or claims an invention made as a result of activities undertaken within the scope of a joint research agreement.

Effective January 1, 1994, a registered attorney or agent of record may sign a terminal disclaimer. A terminal disclaimer signed by the assignee must fully comply with 37 CFR 3.73(b).

4. Claims 1-10 provisionally rejected on the ground of nonstatutory obviousness-type double patenting as being unpatentable over claims 1-13 of copending Application No. 10/663,578. Although the conflicting claims are not identical, they are not patentably distinct from each other because both inventions claim a method of forming a solidified homogenous mixture of organic materials. The difference between this application and that of the '578 application in '578 application there is a step for subjecting the homogenous mixture of organic materials to a heating step. In the instant application, the homogeneous mixture of organic material is melted which is a heating step but it is heating to a temperature to where the material melts which is more specific than just heating which can obviously read on heating up to the melting point as well as higher melting point.

Further in the instant application, a solidification step of the melted composition is recited whereas in the '578 application, a compacting step is performed to produce a solidified product both applications produce a solidified product and are obvious variants to one having ordinary skill in the art familiar with making a solid product.

This is a provisional obviousness-type double patenting rejection because the conflicting claims have not in fact been patented.

5. With a timely filed and properly executed Terminal Disclaimer, this case would be in condition for allowance.

6. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. Klingshirn et al. teach a method of producing pulled crystals by melting a host and dopant materials together and pulling the combination of materials into a crystal.
